Foreword

The Junior Year in France under the auspices of Sweet Briar College was inaugurated in January 1948 as a continuation of the Foreign Study Program formerly sponsored by the University of Delaware. The program offers a comprehensive plan of foreign study to qualified college students, both men and women, enrolled in an accredited four-year college.

During the past eleven years 896 students from 130 colleges and universities in the United States and Hawaii have had the opportunity, through the Sweet Briar program, of spending their third year of college at the University of Paris. To be welcomed into a European university to which for many centuries students have thronged from all parts of the world is a deep and rewarding experience. Sweet Briar College is especially grateful to the Rector of the University of Paris, M. Jean Sarrailh, for his understanding and support of its junior year program.

Before going to Paris, students spend six weeks at Tours in intensive language study and introduction to the life and contemporary institutions of France. During this period, and for the academic year in Paris, they live with French families, gaining insight into French social customs which enriches their formal studies.

The Sweet Briar Junior Year program is flexible, allowing considerable variation in the choice of courses to be pursued at the University under eminent professors, and is unified by supervision of American educators responsible for upholding high standards of scholarship and free inquiry, so that full credit for a year's academic work will be granted by colleges and universities in the United States.

American students fortunate enough to participate in an established and supervised plan of study abroad will gain much personally. The chance to meet students of various nationalities and to study under distinguished foreign scholars at the University of Paris enriches the mind and extends horizons of cultural comprehension. This kind of experience has deep and permanent meaning for the individual student. It is also a positive influence in the growth of a spirit of understanding and good will in our mid-twentieth century world.

PRESIDENT ANNE G. PANNELL	Sweet Briar College
PROFESSOR BLANCHARD L. RIDEOUT	Cornell University
PROFESSOR FRANCIS M. ROGERS	Harvard University
PROFESSOR PAUL SAINTONGE	Mount Holyoke College
PROFESSOR RUTH D. VENABLE	Vassar College

THE YEAR'S OBJECTIVE

The Junior Year in France offers students a full academic year at the University of Paris where, with French classmates, they may broaden and deepen their comprehension of the language, customs, history and culture of France, and specialize to great advantage in such international subjects as art, government, history, international affairs, philosophy or political science. French will be the exclusive language of communication in the class room, in the French families and among the students wherever they may meet.

In France the American student will become aware of the great emphasis placed on individual effort in the field of study. He will be expected to accept the responsibility of greater academic freedom, as well as greater social freedom. He will have to make his own way without the aid of the many extra-curricular and social organizations of the American campus. He will do well to adapt himself to the French university system, rather than to expect a great university to adapt itself to him. If he does so, he will attain an intellectual and social maturity of inestimable value to him in senior year and throughout life. Furthermore he will return with greater understanding of world problems and a better perspective of those of his own country.

Applicants are advised to study, by means of formal courses or independent reading, the history, government and culture of the United States. Experience has shown that American students abroad are often asked to interpret institutions and events in the United States.

ADMISSION

The Junior Year in France is open to responsible sophomores, both men and women, in regular standing in any four-year college or university accredited by its regional association. An applicant must be recommended by the chairman of his major department, the chairman of the French department, and the Dean of the college. Spaces are provided on the application blank for these three recommendations. Separate letters of recommendation from college teachers, three or four only, with respect to the applicant's scholarship, character and personality are welcome. These letters should reach the Junior Year office by March 15.

A candidate for admission must have had as preparation in French at least two years of pre-college French and two years of college French, or the equivalent, including a genuine course in French literature, and must fulfill this requirement by June of sophomore year. It is desirable that he be studying French during the year in which he makes application. He must be a student of excellent character and seriousness of purpose, capable of deriving the maximum benefit from an undergraduate year abroad. His grades in college French must average B. While experience in the past few years has shown that most applicants approved have had also a B general average, students with a B-minus general average are not discouraged from applying. The applicant must present a certificate of good health signed by his physician. The consent of parents or guardians and their approval of the financial arrangements are also required, unless the candidate has an independent income.

It is understood that every student, if accepted, agrees to the supervision and authority of the Professor-in-charge and the Assistant. All members of the group are expected to conform to the group regulations and conduct themselves as responsible representatives of their college and country.

APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION

Application for admission to the Junior Year in France must be made on the official blanks provided for this purpose, obtainable from the Director at Sweet Briar College. The application must be submitted in duplicate through the Dean of the applicant's college as soon as possible after the end of the first semester, and not later than March 15. It should be accompanied by three (3) signed copies of the applicant's photograph, passport size, taken within the past year, and one (1) signed transcript of the applicant's grades through the first semester of sophomore year. A student who is accepted will be asked to send as early in June as possible two (2) complete transcripts of his college record, including the grades for the second semester of sophomore year. If these grades are unsatisfactory the student's withdrawal may be requested and the first payment refunded.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Only a few scholarships, of varying amounts, are available. These scholarships are awarded to students who demonstrate real financial need and whose records are excellent. Applicants for scholarship aid should request the special form prepared for this purpose, and should return the scholarship application to the Director of the Junior Year in France not later than March 1, together with the application for membership.

GRADUATE STUDENTS

A few graduate students will be admitted to the group if they wish to follow courses offered at the University of Paris. Many of the courses offered to members of the group are on an advanced level. Under exceptional circumstances a student may apply during junior year if he obtains the approval of his college to be absent senior year.

PROGRAM OF STUDY

PRELIMINARY PERIOD (September 14-October 24)

TOURS

With the coöperation of the Governor of the province, the Mayor of the city of Tours and the Institut de Touraine, the program of the preliminary period will again be set up in Tours, so rich in historical and literary memories and so hospitable to foreign students.

The purpose of the six weeks preliminary period is twofold: first, to introduce the students of the group to the French way of life, an introduction made much easier in a provincial town, such as Tours, than in Paris; second, to initiate them to French academic life in general, and more particularly to the methods which prevail in French higher education. Meanwhile the preliminary period achieves another essential purpose, which is to bring their practical knowledge of the French language to a point where the students can readily use it for their forthcoming program of studies in Paris.

The group will be divided into small sections according to the scores of a placement test. Each of these sections will be taught by two French teachers selected from the faculties of the best schools in Tours. The nature of the work will vary somewhat according to the individual student's ability to read, write and speak French; but it will include practical training in composition, translation, conversation, phonetics and "explication de textes," supplemented by a program of lectures on various aspects of French culture and civilization.

Absence from class is not advisable, particularly during the preliminary period. Vacation periods at the University of Paris are long and frequent enough to make requests to be excused from classes during the year unnecessary. Attendance at some courses is obligatory if credit is granted.

PROGRAM OF COURSES (November-June)

UNIVERSITY OF PARIS

Students enrolled in the Junior Year in France will register in early November at various faculties of the University of Paris after consultation with the Professor-in-charge. The selection of courses will be determined by the extent of the student's preparation, his major interest, and so far as possible, by the requirements of his college in the United States. The University of Paris catalogue for 1959-60 will not appear before October and therefore the student cannot make a final selection in advance of that month. All course work is ended by June 15, 1960, and most of it earlier in the month.

It is inadvisable to undertake study of another language during the year.

Unlike the American university system, that of France is arranged in course sequences leading up to a general examination after two or more years. However, by courtesy of the President of the University of Paris and the directors of various divisions or affiliated institutes, the Professor-in-charge may recommend qualified members of the Sweet Briar College Junior Year in France group for one or more courses suited to their needs, in which a special examination will be given.

The Faculté des Lettres offers a very wide selection of courses in various fields which can be pursued with interest and profit by the foreign student. The schedule of lectures given by the professors at the Sorbonne is established primarily for French students who are preparing for the "licence" or the "agrégation." Each course runs for the most part for an entire year. Although the titles suggest that an entire period or century may be treated, this is not the case, since survey courses as such do not exist. The professor often chooses to study minutely one author or one aspect of an author. The student is expected to have a good background knowledge of the entire period, and to do independent reading in preparation for the examination. This is his responsibility, not that of the professor giving the course.

At the Ecole du Louvre a number of courses on the study of various phases of art and on the general history of art are available. In each of the fields open to foreign students, the professor chooses a special, limited subject on which the year's work is based. Classes are usually one hour weekly, supplemented by weekly "groupes de travail" under a tutor. Some courses are complemented by a series of visits to the museums.

The Institut d'Etudes Politiques, unique in its own field, has no equivalent elsewhere in the world. For French students the course is of two or three years' duration, but by special arrangement competent members of the group may enter as "auditeurs libres." Each year a great variety of courses in political science is offered. Auditors with sufficient background may choose four courses, including La France depuis 1945, and take the examination for the Certificat d'Etudes Politiques. A limited number of bulletins with summaries of courses for 1959-60 is available to American professors who write to the Director of the Junior Year in France, Sweet Briar, Virginia.

A small number of students enroll each year at the Institut Catholique de Paris for special courses in philosophy and religion that do not exist in other schools.

The Institut Britannique has a twofold aim of familiarizing French students with the language and literature of England, and British students with the language and literature of France. The French Section, designed especially for English-speaking students, contains a number of programs at various levels, which may be pursued in whole or in part.

In this bulletin it is impossible to include all the courses open to Junior Year students. Credit depends on the number of lectures and also on the number of tutorial hours arranged by the Paris office of the Junior Year in France each year, as the system of credits characteristic of the American college or university does not exist in France.

Faculté des Lettres—Sorbonne

Only a few of the very numerous departments are listed here. The others, however, are also open to Junior Year in France students. Instead of listing courses, which change quite often and whose exact contents are announced very late, this bulletin lists some of the most eminent faculty members in each department, along with the fields within which they usually select a limited topic for their courses. Credit of three hours per semester is recommended for the lectures and tutorial hours.

Dans son cours sur le théâtre moderne, Monsieur Alfred Simon traitera du héros dramatique français de Corneille à Jean-Paul Sartre et Albert Camus. Des problèmes de culture et de mise en scène seront soulevés à propos de ce cours, illustré de lectures, de discussions et d'exposés faits par les étudiants. Chaque semaine ceux-ci assisteront à un spectacle parisien. Dans le programme de ces soirées, on a essayé d'équilibrer les auteurs classiques et les auteurs modernes, sans négliger l'avant-garde (Ionesco). Les devoirs se rattachent autant que possible aux sujets traités dans le cours, ou aux pièces vues à Paris.

CREDIT

For each student, upon satisfactory completion of the year's work, Sweet Briar College will recommend to his American college or university thirty (30) or more semester hours of credit. Because of the variation in credit allowed for individual lessons in American colleges, credit for individual work in art and music studios is left to the decision of the appropriate department of the student's own college.

THE STUDENT IN FRANCE

HEADQUARTERS IN PARIS

The Paris offices are located at 101 Boulevard Raspail, where the Alliance Française has generously offered hospitality to the Sweet Briar Junior Year in France and where, on the sixth floor, there are three offices, a meeting room with a small library, and a sun terrace.

LIVING QUARTERS

Students will be lodged in French homes in both Tours and Paris in order that they may have the maximum opportunity to hear and speak French and to gain greater knowledge of French life and customs. The homes are chosen very carefully and a check is made each summer on the homes of the preceding year.

All arrangements for room and board are made for the year and changes cannot be made except for very good reasons.

SUPERVISION

Students who are enrolled in the Junior Year in France will be under the supervision of the Professor-in-charge and the Assistant. Their supervision will end with the termination of a student's classes in June. The Professor-in-charge is the adviser on all academic matters. The Assistant will help him and will serve all students as an adviser on social matters. The students' scholastic progress will be followed carefully and periodic reports will be sent to the American colleges and universities from which they come.

Transition, a student news sheet, is published by the group once a year.

The Professor-in-charge and the Assistant have authority over all members of the group. They will have the right to require the withdrawal of any student whose conduct or academic standing warrants such a step.

FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS

EXPENSES

Like Sweet Briar College the Junior Year in France is a non-profit educational enterprise. Outside of the regular salaries and fees paid, no institution and no person can receive any pecuniary advantage from its operation.

Except for Item (1) below, the figures are not fixed, but are estimated as carefully as possible on the basis of present inflationary costs. It is therefore understood that parents will provide the additional amount necessary to cover actual expenditures as well as any deficit occasioned by factors and circumstances not now shown (e.g., an increase in cost of room and board or travel, or unforeseen personal expenses). After the accounts have been closed and audited at the end of the fiscal year, any unexpended sums in Items (2) and (3) will be refunded. In the case of students holding Junior Year in France scholarships, however, the room and board refund (up to the amount of the grant) will revert to the scholarship fund.

TABLE OF EXPENSES

	Low	Medium	High
Item (1). Junior Year in France Fee (fixed) Covers all expenses of Paris and Sweet Briar offices: salaries of administrative personnel and tutors, staff travel, tuition at the University of Paris and affiliated institutions, cost of special courses, printing, purchase of library books, postage, auditing of accounts and so forth, but does not include the cost of textbooks, nor of individual art and music lessons, nor of studio supplies and piano rentals.	$ 750	$ 750	$ 750
Item (2). Board and room in Tours and Paris, 9½ months (estimated) This will vary according to the accommodations available. The minimum is not recommended for women.	1000	1100	1300
Item (3). Travel (estimated) Covers transportation from New York to Paris, Tours, and return, including visa and French port tax. It does not include tips, steamer chair, insurance or passport.	450	450	450
Total of Items (1), (2), and (3)	$2200	$2300	$2500

PAYMENTS

Checks in payment of these items should be made payable to The Junior Year in France and sent to the office of the Director at Sweet Briar College in accordance with the following schedule:

	Low	Medium	High
Upon acceptance (This payment will apply on Item (1) and is not refundable unless withdrawal is requested by the Junior Year in France or the student's college because of unsatisfactory work in the second semester of sophomore year. A refund of $175 will be made to a student drafted for military service.)	$ 200	$ 200	$ 200
July 15	$1150	$1200	$1300
November 30	$ 850	$ 900	$1000

For students who enroll in the theatre course a fee of $45 will be added to the November 30 payment to cover the additional expense of the administration of this course and the cost of theatre tickets for the twenty plays seen during the Paris session.

REFUNDS

Students withdrawing from the Junior Year in France will be granted a refund of any unexpended amounts remaining in Items (2) and (3). In respect to Item (1), refunds will be made as follows:

- (a) Withdrawal prior to group sailing $550
- (b) Withdrawal after the group's departure but prior to beginning of classes at the University of Paris $350
- (c) Withdrawal after beginning of classes at the University of Paris no refund

INSURANCE

The Junior Year in France will recommend a group health insurance plan under which its students may be insured at relatively low cost. Some form of accident and health insurance is required of all members of the Junior Year in France group.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Detailed information concerning passport application, visas, handling of baggage, hotel reservations in New York City, time and place of the group meeting prior to embarkation and suggestions regarding clothing will be sent to members of the group in ample time.

The general mailing address for the group will be: Sweet Briar Junior Year Office, Institut de Touraine, 1 rue de la Grandière, Tours (Indre-et-Loire), France, from September 11 to October 24; Sweet Briar Junior Year Office, 101 Boulevard Raspail, Paris VI, after October 24. Cables should give the first and last name of the student and the address "Briarstudy (Tours)" or "Briarstudy (Paris)." "Briarstudy" is the registered cable address of the Sweet Briar Junior Year in France.

Arrangements have been made with Cunard Steam-Ship Company for tourist class accommodations on the Mauretania, sailing from New York on September 3, 1959. The return sailing will be arranged in accordance with the wishes of the individual student.

The Professor-in-charge and the Assistant will advise members of the group who wish to arrange for European trips at their own expense during the Christmas and spring vacations. Money for incidental expenses and vacation travel may be sent to the individual student through the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

N. B. The right is reserved to modify or even cancel any or all of the present plans if conditions make it necessary.
